THIS WEEK IN THE PARISH

A few words from our Pastor:-

Our bulletin is beginning to burst at the seams. That can be a good thing, but we can also get overwhelmed. The motto to help ourselves work amidst a changing and busy world remains: "Seek first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness and the rest will be given unto you." Of course, that assumes that we know how to seek the Kingdom... In Church practice, one such aid to perceive the workings of God in the midst of a Parish is through consultation. The Parish Pastoral Council is an important committee as it aids the pastor in discerning the work of the Spirit in a Parish community. It is God who governs the Church and we are given the opportunity to participate. Therefore, I would like to encourage reluctant persons to consider a nomination to the PPC.

A prerequisite for service in the Church is an uneasy feeling of unworthiness. Therefore, if you are reluctant to be nominated because you do not feel completely up to the task, you may be the right person for the job.

God Bless
