The Eyes Have It

By Jean Allen

There are many layers to this story of Zacchaeus but one of my favourite aspects of it is how Zacchaeus changed so definitively and so quickly and why he did so.

He didn't change because Jesus berated him or even expressed any disappointment in Zacchaeus' lifestyle. He didn't change because the people were grumbling about the fact that Jesus had chosen him to have a meal with. People had no doubt been grumbling about him and reviling him from the moment he became a tax collector and it never inspired him to change before. No, Zacchaeus changed because he had come face to face with Jesus. He looked into Jesus's eyes and all his barriers, greed, fears, anxieties and whole life perspective crumbled away in a moment.

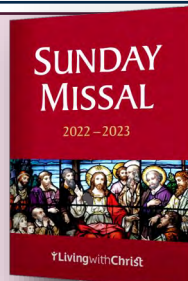

In that moment Zacchaeus' inner stature changed. It grew tall. When we have a face-to-face encounter with Christ, we are given a stunning glimpse of who we really are in God's eyes and, rather than feeling discouraged that we can't possibly measure up to such a vision, there is a sense that growing into that reality is entirely possible and that Christ will be the one to give us grace day by day to grow taller and taller. All we are required to do is keep our eyes on him and trust him to be the one who will create the changes in his perfect timing.

It almost sounds too easy, right? Well, it's not really. It's a day by day, moment by moment walk with the Lord. It's a constant exercise of not running ahead, not allowing anxiety of the future to cloud your vision and not trying to gain control in order to do things your way. It's constantly calling to mind the original vision of wholeness and health in order to breath in the understanding that change is his business.

Your responsibility is to continually look in his eyes and say "Yes!"
