Development and Peace

We all heard the powerful messages of Pope Francis on his recent visit to the U.S., and many have probably read some or all of his encyclical, "Laudato Si – On Care for Our Common Home". D&P's Fall Education and Action Campaign is based on his call to action to all of us: What can we do - personally, in our communities, and as citizens of Canada to care for God's creation, our common home? You are invited to take part this month in D&P's campaign Create a Climate of Change.

To learn more about this theme, please come to the SJ / D&P meeting on Mon, Oct 5 in Pope John Hall from 7-9. All are most welcome!

Christian Charities Fall Sale & Bazaar

Last 2 weeks to drop off items for the Fall Used Clothing and Attic Treasure Sale on Oct. 17.

Please ensure items are clean and good repair.

We are also collecting books and DVDs to be sold at the bazaar on Nov.7.

No encyclopedias, National Geographics or VCR tapes.

Also needed new or 'like new' items for Lucky 7 -- any value and suitable for children to seniors. Please put in bag or box marked "Lucky 7".

All items can be dropped off Tues and Wed between 9:00am and 11:30am at the Parish Hall.

If unable to do so, please call Rita 250-598-9558 for alternate arrangements.

Your support is much appreciated.

MARRIAGE, FAMILY LIFE, AND THE SANCITY OF HUMAN LIFE

Marriage Nullity

Why a Marriage Nullity Process?

Jesus taught that marriage is indissoluble. Once people get married, [Catholic or non-Catholic] they are married until one of them dies, even if they someday separate, justifiably or otherwise. A married person's vocation is to lifelong fidelity to the marital covenant, even when (in cases of abandonment or necessary separation) that means living as though celibate. Christ knew our human nature and he knew that this was a hard teaching. He was already challenged and ridiculed for it in his own time, but he did not back down from it.

With that being said, there are certain marriages that are invalid from the start. They have the outward appearance of a marriage and are usually entered into in good faith, but because of some impediment, some defect of consent, or some problem in the form of the marriage celebration, they are never really marriages at all. If there was really no marriage at all, and if that fact is publicly proven, then those two parties are free to marry someone else. The Church and society as a whole have the responsibility to uphold and support couples in their marriage vows even when (especially when) one or both of them no longer want to be married, which is why there has to be proof of nullity before a new marriage can be recognized. The spouses themselves, let alone one of them, cannot simply decide privately that the marriage is invalid and that they are free to move on.

The marriage nullity process is a judicial process developed over the centuries to allow people who believe that their marriage was invalid to attempt to prove that fact, all the while safeguarding the rights of both parties and upholding the dignity and indissolubility of marriage. A declaration of nullity does not and cannot dissolve an existing marriage; rather it is an official declaration by the Church that it has been proven beyond a reasonable doubt that a given marriage was invalid from the start. When a marriage is actually invalid, declaring the nullity of the marriage is a good and just thing.

Pope Francis, on the plane flying back to Rome on Sunday, said: "I like that you asked that question about Catholic divorce. That doesn't exist. Either it wasn't a marriage and this is nullity – it didn't exist. And if it did, it's indissoluble."

If you are a Catholic in a second marriage relationship, wishing to explore the possibility of having your second marriage recognized by the Church, I invite you to contact me or Moira Gill, at the Marriage Tribunal Office so that we may assist you in your quest.- Fr. John Laszczyk, Judicial Vicar

Choose Life Vigil

Once again Choose Life Victoria invites everyone who wish to defend life to join them as they hold a prayerful, peaceful and positive vigil across the street from the regional abortion clinic in View Royal, site of a thousand abortions a year.

They try, with positive and compassionate prayers and signage to convey God's love for the often –distraught young women and girls but also to send the message that there is a better way to respond to an unexpected pregnancy, and that help is available to find that way.

For info, visit www.40daysforlife.com/victoria/ or contact Alex Berns at 250-508-7839.
